Election/Restrictions

1. The inventions found in claims 1-53 and claims (54-57 and 58-59) are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. Specifically the product of claims 1-53 can be used with a process that does not require braking means, as is required in claims 54-57 nor does the product of claims 1-53 require that there be compressible springs as is required in the process claims 58-59.

NOTE: Applicant must elect either the product claims (1-53) OR the method claims (54-59) above. If applicant elects method claims (54-59) then applicant must move on to the 2nd part of this restriction. If applicant elects product claims (1-53) then applicant must move on to the 3rd part of this restriction requirement.

2. The inventions found in claims 54-57 and 58-59 are directed to related distinct processes. The related inventions are distinct if the (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. See

Art Unit: 3618

MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants. Specifically, there is a large structural difference between claims 54-57 and 58-59, namely that claims 58-59 require that there is a pair of compressible springs positioned along the axle.

NOTE: Applicant must elect either the process in claims 54-57 OR the process in claims 58-59. Upon election of one of these methods applicant must then respond to the election of species below.

3. Claims 1 and 49 are generic to the following disclosed patentably distinct species:

- Species I: (Figures 1-8) Disclose the apparatus in one form
- Species II: (Figures 9-11) Disclose the apparatus with a structurally different base plate and a resilient stop
- Species III: (Figures 12-22) Disclose a completely different base plate design
- Species IV: (Figures 23a.-23b.) Disclose the conveyance device as a scooter with a handle

The species are independent or distinct because the species are significantly different in structure. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, even though this requirement is traversed. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).
